WELCOME

President's Message

Welcome to the annual Ice Show of the Stony Plain Skating Club. We've had a great year with many of our skaters competing in the region and province. We are proud of the accomplishments of all our skaters. Most of our coaches started skating in this club's CanSkate Program and we recognize their commitment to our club.

It is wonderful to see so many children learning to skate, whether for hockey, ringette or figure skating and we know you will recognize their achievements today.

I would like to thank our coaches, Kelsey, Tracy, Jessica, Justine, Kristin, Alexa and Jordan, and the Program Assistants, for their hard work - not only in producing today's show but throughout the entire season. The progress displayed by the skaters is a tribute to their coaching talents!

Thank you to Ice Show Producers, Justine Kummer and Kristin Padget, and the many volunteers who have worked so hard to put this show on the ice!

Thank you to the executive members – your dedication to the club over the years is very much appreciated.

Finally, to our skaters - you've worked hard for today - have a great time - you all deserve it!

Now sit back and enjoy "A tale as old as time, a song as old as rhyme - Beauty and the Beast".

Beauty and the Beast

Once upon a time, in a faraway land, a young prince lived in a shining castle. One freezing night, an old beggar woman came to the castle and offered the Prince a red rose in return for shelter. Repelled by her ragged appearance, he sneered at the gift and turned her away. "Do not be deceived by appearances," she warned, "for beauty is found within."

As punishment, the Enchantress transformed the Prince into a hideous beast and placed a spell on everyone in the castle. She gave him an enchanted Mirror as his only window to the outside world and a rose, which would bloom until his twenty-first year. For the spell to be broken, he must learn to love another and earn that person's love in return before the last petal falls. If not, he would remain a beast forever.

In a charming French village, not far from the castle, lived a beautiful girl named Belle, who loved to read about far off places, daring sword fights, magic spells and princes in disguise.

In the town, also lived Gaston, the town hero, manly and self-centered, but loved by many. "There's not a girl in town who wouldn't love to be in your shoes, Belle. This is the day your dreams come true! Say you'll marry me!" But Belle says no, outraging Gaston.

Belle's father disappears and as she searches for him, she arrives at the gates of a forbidding castle where she finds her father in the remote dungeon. A horrible horned Beast is holding him prisoner. The Beast allows Belle's father to leave, on one condition: Belle must promise to stay there forever! Belle becomes the Beast's new prisoner, but to her surprise, she doesn't have to stay in the dungeon.

The enchanted residents of the castle, Mrs. Potts, Chip, Lumiere, and Cogsworth couldn't be more excited with a girl in the castle. "Don't you see? She's the one we've been waiting for - the one who will break the spell!" But Belle is terrified, and escapes from the castle into the freezing night. Suddenly a wolf pack appears, ready to strike. But a huge paw snatches a wolf away - the Beast! The snarling wolves are no match for the Beast's fury but one bites the Beast's arm. Belle knows that she could escape, but when she sees that the Beast is hurt, she helps him back to the castle.

The whole household is delighted to see a friendship growing between Belle and their master. Belle and the Beast share a romantic dinner, followed by the Beast leading Belle shyly into the ballroom. The enchanted objects watch with a smile as they dance.

But then... Belle sees her father in the Mirror: he needs her help! The Beast lets Belle go after her father and he gives her the mirror, so she'll have a way to look back, to remember the Beast. With the help of the Mirror, Belle is able to find her father and bring him home.

Gaston seizes the Mirror from Belle and sees an image of the Beast. He locks up Belle and her father and enrages a mob of villagers, leading them through the forest to the castle. Fortunately, Chip had stowed away in Belle's bag before she left and he releases Belle and her father who rush toward the castle.

The mob is approaching but the castle is prepared. The enchanted objects launch a surprise attack on the mob as Gaston sneaks off to find the Beast. The Beast is unwilling to fight but then he spots Belle approaching the castle and begins to fight. The battle has been won, Gaston and the village mob are gone! However, before Gaston is defeated, he stabs the Beast. Running to his side, Belle embraces him.

"No" cries Belle, overcome by tears. "Please don't leave me! I love you." As Belle cries at his side, the enchanted objects watch as the last petal falls from the rose.

Suddenly, the rain begins to shimmer and sparkle and Belle looks up to see a beam of light fall like a shooting star. The air is full of magic! The Beast's eyes blink open. His paws have been transformed into human hands and touching his face, he finds that it is smooth. The spell is broken!

"Belle! It's me!" and seeing his blue eyes, Belle instantly knows that it is him. A fireworks display explodes around Belle and her Prince as they kiss.
